

Safeguard your pets this season during a fireworks display

Fireone Fireworks FX understands that the loud noise and bright flashes of fireworks may be stressful and frightening to pets, especially dogs and cats. Here are some helpful hints to ease your pets' discomfort and reduce the risk of them running away, getting lost and possibly being fatally hit by a vehicle.

If possible, keep your pets indoors.

Close your curtains and distract them by turning on the TV or radio. Create a 'safe haven' for them in a small crate or box, or use a pet carrier.

Secure your pets outdoors.

If you prefer your pets remain outside, ensure that their enclosure or kennel is comfortable and securely locked. Also check and secure fences and gates so that they cannot 'squeeze through' an opening and run away. Check periodically on your pets and soothe them.

Practice fire safety

Keep pet away from matches, open fires, and fireworks - especially ones that are lighted on the ground. Pets may try to sniff (or eat) fireworks, and Pet hair can easily catch fire if too close to the fireworks.

Use a leash or carrier.

If you plan take your pet away from home with you, keep it on a leash or in a carrier at all times.

Make sure your pet has ID.

Pets with identification tags carrying contact information are easier to locate in the event that they run away.

Ask your vet for medication.

If your pet is high-strung, your vet may prescribe medication to keep it calm. To avoid complications due to any underlying medical problems, ensure that the medication you use is vet-recommended and that you administer the correct dosage for your pet's weight.

It is important to use Fireworks responsibly. Be considerate of the sick, elderly, the animals and the health and well being of others. Your enjoyment should not be someone's pain.
